THE UNION LEAGUE OF AMERICA .- The committee appointed by the national executive committee of the Union League of America. which met in Baltimore on the 20th instant, visited the President, Secretary Bristow and Postmaster General Jewell yesterday for the purpose of presenting the resolutions adopted at that meeting. The committee consisted of ex-Gov. Newell, of New Jersey, chairman; Geo. H. Harlow, of Illinois; Col. Thomas R. Rich and Col. Thomas H. Gardner, of Maryland. The National Council of the Union League of America will assemble at Cincinnati on the 5th of January next, when measures will be aken to effect a thorough reorganization of the league throughout the country.

THE WHITE HOUSE, which is whiter than ever by two fresh coats of paint, is all ready for the reception of the bride and groom. Mrs. President Grant has given up her own room for the use of the young couple, and has taken one across the hall which faces the river, and which was Nellie's room during her girlhood. A handsome new carpet has been put down, and the rescoing and paint touched up in the room which is to be Mrs. Fred's. Old Mr. Dent's room, which is the adjoining room, has been newly fitted up for Nellie, who will not be here before the end of January. Colonel and Mrs. Grant will make a visit to New York before they arrive here. Of course, they will be much entertained when they arrive, as Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Belknap and others will give dinners, lunches and evening receptions in their honor. In this way all of Washington will be enabled to see those marvelous dresses of which so much has been written. Mrs. Fred.'s opporfunities for using her elegant toilettes are superior to those of Mrs. Sartoris, for, if we can rely upon the information that gossips bring, Mrs. Sartoris has led a quiet, retired life, and had no occasion for attiring herself in any but the simplest costume. Mrs. Sartoris' contemplated visit has caused Col. Grant to change his plans about a trip to Europe. He will divide WASHINGTON THEATICE COMIQUE. his time between the White House and Chicago.-"Foy," in Louisville Cour Jour.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONVENTION YES TERDAY.—In the Episcopal general convention yesterday the friends and opponents of Dr. Seymour, the rejected bishop of Illinois, had some conversation about an exchange of papers relating to his case, but the house laid the whole matter on the table. The committee on the state of the church made a report in favor of the creating of a building fund. The churches in the south were commended to the benevolence of their more fortunate sister churches in the north. A resolution was adopted providing for a division of the diocese of Wisconsin. Greater part of the session was taken up by the debate

THE IMPRISONED COUNT VON ARNIN .- A Berlin dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph reports that the physicians of the hospital where Von Arnim is confined decline to assume the responsibility for the prisoner's health if he continues shut up. They declare that he is worse in consequence of his confinement, and his immediate release and departure south are imperatively necessary. On the other hand, the Prussian Cross Gazette denies that there is any marked change in the Count's physical condition. The Berlin newspapers say that Count

Von Arnim will be released to-day. MISTARBN IDENTITY-The Assumed Nano Sahib an Impostor .- The Times of India announces that Col. Mobray Thompson, the defender of Cawnpore, fails to identify the person who claimed to be Nana Sahib, though he says there is certainly a likeness. The prisoner declares he was drunk when he falsely confessed that he was Nana Sahib. He states that he was arrested by mistake in 1861, and subsequently released, and claims he has relatives who will recognize him.

MORE TROUBLE FOR BISMARCK .- A Paris dispatch says authentic information has been received there that Russia is fully convinced that she will, in the course of three or four years, be engaged in a desperate struggle with Germany. Bismarck is determined to demand the restoration of the German provinces of Russia, and Von Moltke has already his spies in those provinces, and it is said the proposed organization of the new Landsturm has been decided upon in view of these possible events.

THE ATTACK ON CONGRESSMAN SENER. -Reports regarding the affair are conflicting. Some have it that Sener received his injuries mainly by being pushed from or falling off the platform during the scuille, while again it is styled a brutal affair. A card is published by Sener, in which he claims to have been set upon and beaten by numbers of the supporters of his opponent, to such an extent that he is now confined to his bed, with his face badly bruised and his left firm broken in two places.

THE FAILURE OF HENRY CLEWS, THE BANKER.—Henry Clews, the New York banker, who went under during the panic of September, 1873, was examined yesterday in the bankrupt court touching his property. He testified that his property consisted mostly in railroad bonds and other securities, and his reason for making an assignment was to secure an equitable divi-sion of his assets among his creditors.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- An express train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad was wrecked at Whitheld, a few miles west of Fairfield, Iowa, yesterday. It is stated that nineteen pessengers were fatally injured, and several killed outright. A later dispatch says no one was hurt but the fireman, and that the first reports were growth averagranted. first reports were grossly exaggerated.

DISASTER AT SEA .- A London dispatch says that the brig Lophema, from Liverpool for Bal-timore, rescued five men from a life raft, sur-vivors of the steamship Mary, which foundered while on a voyage from Glasgow to Trinidad. These, with two others who were rescued by the steamship Horse Guards, are supposed to be the only survivors of the disaster.

Condition of the Eric Railroad.—Capt. Tyler yesterday made his report in London on the condition of the Eric railroad. He recommends a double track with steel rails and a change of guage. The report is favorable to the great corporation in which so much English capital has been invested.

By The Boston Herald states that a large amount of public money has been stolen in Middlesex county.

THE SAFE BURGLARY. Seventh Day's Proceedings in the Criminal Court.

Testimony of Gustav Zirruth. Conclusion Vesterday's Proceedings

TESTIMONY OF ZIERUTH CONTINUED. Yesterday when we closed our report of the trial of Hiram C. Whiteley, Richard Harring ton and Arthur B. Williams, charged with con piracy in connection with the alleged safe bur glary in the district attorney's office, Gustav Zirruth was on the stand. He continued his testimony as follows: Met Hayes under the name of Butler several times. He came to wit ness' room first. Afterwards saw him every day after that except one Sunday; also saw Nettleship daily; saw Hayes and Demaine at Marble saloon; took Demaine there himself and it troduced him to Hayes; they were there by h (witness) appointment; this by the direction of Nettleship; saw them together three times afterwards on that same day; heard conversation between them at the Marble Saloon that day; the conversation was about the procuring of some books and papers; Hayes said he coul get them, and that it would be a great thing for the parties; he did not mention the name of Columbus Alexander until a day or two after They then left witness at the Marble Saloon and walked down the street by the Marble Saloon between it and the theatre; witness remained standing on the sidewalk until they re turned back, about half an hour, when he DEMAINE SAY THAT HE WOULD MEET HIM at that place. They then parted, and he (wit ners) followed Demaine as he wanted to know what Hayes told him; afterwards returned and had a conversation with Hayes; this was about fifteen minutes afterwards; took a walk down the avenue with him as far as the National Hotel. Hayes went into a barber shop, and Demaine came up and asked witness WHERE HIS FRIEND WAS.

Told him he was in the hotel. Demaine went into the hotel, saying he had an appointment to meet him there. Hayes came out of the barber shop and asked where Demaine was, and followed him into the hotel. They remained in there half an hour and came out together and walked to 9th street and turned up to F street WENT INTO A HOUSE TOGETHER.

This was Columbus Alexander's house; waited for them until he got tired and left them there. Did not see them again until the following Monday. Saw Hayes that morning, but did not see Demaine again. Hayes asked witness if he had seen Nettleship; told him no; he said he must be on here to-night. Witness and Hayes were together all that day until night, when they went to the depot on 6 h street. Hayes wanted to go alone and wait until the 11 o'clock train came in. The train came in some lifteen minutes after 11.

SAW NETTLESHIP COME OFF THE TRAIN. Hayes went up to him, and both jumped in a coach and went off together, leaving witness behind. They drove to the Owen House, and witness followed them on foot about as fast as the horses traveled. Afterwards met Hayes and asked him what it meant about their running off without him. Hayes said Netileship did no want to see him, and wished to leave town as soon as possible; that this was the BIGGEST FUT UP JOB EVER KNOWN IN THIS the penitentiary together; this was on Monda night, but the day of the month he could no remember; it was the first Monday after Hayes came to town. Witness told him he was no ready to go; Hayes said he (witness) had better take his advice and go, saying he (H.) WAS GOING DOWN TO SOUTH CAROLINA, or some other place-he mentioned several places; saw Nettleship the following morning at the Owen House; Hayes was not there; Nettleship asked him if he had seen Haves, and it he had not been told by him to leave the city witness replied that he had; Nettleship asked why he did not go; witness told him he was not ready; Nettleship asked what the difficulty was. whether he had money enough; witness told him he was short of money. NETTLESHIP GAVE HIM A $50 RULL and told him to leave the city by the first train witness told him he might or might not go that day; Nettleship told him to go to his home in Newark, N. J., and he (Nettleship) would meet him there and settle with him; did not see Hayes that day; left that evening for Newark; met Hayes at Wilmington, on the train, when they went on together; Hayes talked about this being a put up job; witness asked why he did not go to South Carolina; Hayes said he was going to New York to see a party there, but did say who it was; Hayes asked if witness would leave the train at Newark, and told him he (witness) had better make himself scarce for a few months; he had told witness this before; he talked freely about the put up job on Columbus Alexander in Washington; he mentioned Nettleship and Chief Whitely as the parties doing it. [Objection was made to this evidence as against Whitely, and the court ruled it out, as desired.] They parted here, and witness left the cars at Newart. and witness left the cars at Newark.

At 3:30 the court adjourned until to-day at 11 o'clock. To-day's Proceedings. This morning the court room contained but few spectators at the opening of the court (11 o'clock) but the room rapidly filled. ZIRRUTH AGAIN RECALLED Gustav Zirruth resumed the stand and the government resumed his examination. He testhied that on the cars going to Newark Hayes said he would hear more of the case in three or four days, what it meant, &c.; next saw Nettieship there a few days after he (witness) left Washington at his house in Newark; N. sent after him to come and see him; witness went to N's house, and he (N.) said: "Gus, we will settle off" (for the work he done;) he got a sheet of paper and made witness

SIGN THE NAME OF JACOB MILLER, saying it would not do to give his right name; he signed his name to three papers, secret service vouchers; they were for $380, and N. paid him $200; N. said he thought everything would come out all right; the next day went to John King's office-assistant to United States attorney for New Jersey-and they wanted him to sign receipt and asked him to copy it off, witness did so and left; a few days after Nettleship sent for him and asked him if he would not like TO TAKE A TRIP IN THE COUNTRY.

This was about a week after the barglary, and in Nettleship's house. The defence objected to any conversation being given, and Mr. Davidge claimed that the court had ruled that statements of parties on trial could be given, and Nettleship was not on

Judge Humphreys explained his ruling. Mr. Davidge said that they were about making a departure, and he contended that they could not admit the admissions of a coconspirator after the alleged offense has been committed against his fellows. Judge Humphreyssaid that he would concede the point, and while it is true Nettleship is not on trial, Hayes is. It would not be contended that the acts of the party could not be used against himself. He would not permit the counsel to travel outside, but he would not at this time rule that the counsel could not pursue

Mr. Davidge further argued that there could not be any ground on which the prosecution could offer these declarations. Mr. Hill, for the government, said they relied on the principles in 5th McLean, 553, in which the whole transaction was allowed to be proved. This was an ansiogous case—the act was not consummated when the safe was blown open,

THE CHARGE WAS CONSPIRACY TO DEFAME COLUMBUS ALEXANDER, and they could offer evidence as to what took plece subsequently between the parties.

Judge Humphreys said that the conclusion to which he had come was after deliberation. He could not see why the conversation with Nettleship could not be given with the instruction of the court to the jury, that they must receive this as applicable to Nettleship unless afterwards the other parties are connected. And he gave the jury such instruction. The witness resumed and said Nettleship asked how he would like to take a trip out in the country-out west. He said he WOULD GIVE HIM $100 PER MONTH while he was gone and $10 per week for his family. He said that he (Nettleship) was afraid that some one would send after him to afraid that some one would send after him to go before the committee or the grand jury in this city. Witness said he would go, and went to Easton, Pa., where he stopped over night, and the next day he came to this city, arriving at night, and went back the next night. Witness communicated with Wm. Metzger, who was then a reporter for the Washington Journal. Witness attempted to communicate with the memorialists through Mr. Metzger; sent Mr. M. to see Mr. Alexander or Col. Christy (ruled out). When he returned to Easton he stopped a When he returned to Easton he stopped a week and went home. Witness RECEIVED A LETTER FROM NETTLESHIP to come home. N. had an idea that he was in Michigan, and the letter found him at home. Witness went to see Nettleship at his house. N. asked him if he had received a letter, and said it was a good thing he had come home, for he wanted him to go to Washington and swear that he (witness) had Sitness) had BEVER SEEN HIM IN WASHINGTON, Witor connected with him or Hayes. Witness said he would not do any such thing, and would not swear to a lie. N. then said he had better stay away. A day or two afterwards

Nettleship wanted him to sign an affi arit at the office of W.D. Gould, in Newark Told both that he would not sign that paper. The affidavit was not read over to witness. A rew days afterwards Nettleship told him to that they wanted him (Z.) in Washington. Wit ness then went to Canada, and stopped two nights in St. Catherines and came home. After he had been home about a week or ten days, a MAN NAMED ALBERT CUNZ, employed by Whitley and Nettleship, came to see if he was home, and witness then "turned -showed himself on the street; Nettleship sent after him, and asked

WHAT HAD BROUGHT BIM HOME? Witness said that he thought he would come to Washington, and Nettleship said "For God's sake don't you do it; if you have no regard for me, have some for my family." N. said if be came here he would have him (witness) locked up, for he was indicted; witness did not go to Michigan; never was in Detroit; witness repeat ed what Nettleship said after he came from Canada; N. said

"YOU ARE THE ONLY MAN WHO CAN SAVE US we will get away with Hayes." Billy Guild then took him to Long Branch, to keep Mr. Wilson from getting hold of him; stopped there a week, and went home; they then proposed to send him to Montreal; Nettleship proposed it; witness started, but did not go further than New York; stopped at 799 Lexington avenue; stopped there about two weeks, but came home nearly every night; witness sent his brother to Billy Guild, and went over to Newark and met Nettleship at Guild's house; told N. that he in-tended to give himself up, and he then asked how he would like TO MAKE A TRIP TO BUROFE, witness said he wouldn't care if he had money enough. N. asked how much he wanted to stay there six months, and if $1,000 for him and $500 would take him. He said it would, and N said that he had better go back to New York and stay a few days; that they would have to send to Washington, and the party was tight at that time; that Mr. Harrington— (Defence—We will waive that.) That Mr. Harrington had to spend so much money on Burton. Witness returned to New York, Gould saying that he would meet him; Gould did not come, and went back to Newark, and saw Gould and Nettleship together. Nettleship asked if he was prepared to go to Europe, saying it would not be safe to take the Heboken or Jersey City line; that he RETTER TAKE THE MONTREAL LINE.

Witness returned to New York, and a young man named Curry came to him with a thousand dollars, and they were going to take him away. Curry wanted him to go to Montrest, and witness said if they give him five thousand dollars he would not leave the house that night Guild came next day and asked why he did not go, and if he did not Nettleship would have to go; that he had better go from Boston. Saturday morning a coach came to his boardinghouse with Curry and took him to Jersey City saw Guild there. Deputy Marshal Daily and

GOT HIS TICKET FOR LIVERPOOL Witness waited from 10 o'clock until 2% o'clock, when the ticket came. Witness could not see the steamer, and Curry said that the tug boat would take them to the steamer. Curry gave him the money after he got on the steamer. Witness walked about the steamer, and Curry remained on the steamer, evidently fearing him. Witness found a small tug boat, and CURRY BADE HIM GOOD RYE and took a tug on one side of the steamer an lett. Witness got on the tug on the other side and landed him at pier 45. Witness telegraphed to Newark the same night that he was not gone yet, and also to Downes that he was ready to go to Washington. Witness' attention was recalled, and said he was sent for in July to go to 56 Bleeker street, New York, and went over, getting there be tween 12 and 1 o'clock. Saw Albert Cunz there who took him to a room and told him to wait. Nettleship came in, and witness asked if he was the man who had come to his house, and receiving an affirmative answer, was told to take a good look at him. Whitley came in, and Nettleship asked witness if he (witness) would come down to Washington and swear that he had not seen or been connected with him (Nettleship) or Hayes.

Mr. Henkle objected, and being overruled noted an exception. Witness resumed and said he told Nettleship that he would not go to Washir gton to make a false oath. Colonel Whitley was present at this time, but went out again; don't know that he was present when Nettleship told him this. Witness was present from twenty minutes to half an hour. The message to him was that the chief and Nettleship wanted to have a talk with him. When witness met Nettleship at the Bingham House, Philadelphia, N. said he gave Witness did not know the object of Nettleship sending him here at first. A recess was taken for thirty minutes.

After Recess.

On reassembling at 1% o'clock, Gustav Zirruth resumed the stand, and his cross examination was continued as follows: Witness was to receive $100 per month and expenses. First saw Demaine on the sidewalk and witness first spoke of the weather; a man on the opposite side of the street told him who Demaine was; was not introduced to him. Mei Demaine on the street the second time;

NEVER WAS INTRODUCED TO HIM, told him his name. Witness opened the conversation the second time by remarking about buying a lot, and Demaine advised him not to buy, but wait till spring. The third time he met Demaine was in a ssreet car; had not up to this time met Butler or Hayes. The conver sation was then about books and papers, and Demaine mentioned John O. Evans' and Gov. Shepherd's name. Spoke about books because he had been so instructed by Nettleship. When Butler and Demaine had

The Episcopal Church Convention. NEW YORK, October 28 -In the Protestant Episcopal Convention to-day Rev. Dr. Kidney of Minn., offered a resolution asking that committee be appointed, consisting of three bishops, three presbyters and three laymen, to report at the next general convention a canon or constitutional amendment as to what legislation is deemed necessary for authorizing a division of a synod of dioceses, or some kind of ecclest astical sanction of dioceses within same state or commonwealth. The committee on canons reported unfavorably on the report of the joint committee on deaconesses. On motion of Mr. Burgwin, of Pittsburg, a committee of conference on the organization of the church was appointed.

Rev. Charles P. Jennings, of Missouri, offered a resolution declaring that all usages, rites and ceremonies of eucharistic adoration as sup-ported the belief that Christ was present on the Lord's table as the appointed place of his presence in bread and wine, by virtue of the conse-cration of elements, and is worshipped there; al o, all teachings based upon that belief were declared to be foreign to the church. Opposi-tion being offered to this resolution it was withdrawn for the present. Rev. Dr. Schenck, of Long Island, offered a resolution instructing the committee on expen-ses to appropriate an additional sum of $500 for the presiding bishop, in view of his approaching age and infirmities; placed on the calendar.

A letter was read from the secretary of the church congress in England, extending an invitation to the clergy and bishops to attend their next congress in Stoke, England. It was moved and carried that a suitable reply be forwarded. The committee on constitutional amendments reported with regard to the provincial system which had been referred to that committee; that in their opinion the house of bishops at the present time was not too numerous. If the house of deputies should become too numerous in future it can easily be remedied by constitu-tional amendment; any institutions, provinces or provincial synods would be useless. Separation of churches in provinces would work great evil in future; recommends that it was inexpedient that any changes in the provincial ystem should be made; placed on the calendar

S army officer on a charge of intimidating voters The gentlemen were present with the bar of the city to defeud them. After the opening of the court, the commissioner read a letter from Major Merrill, suggesting that as much excitement in relation to the case prevailed, from the wide-spread impression that the arrests habeen made for political purposes, the trial b postponed until after the election. The commissioner approved this suggestion and counsel for defense, after consultation agreed to the postponement. The people nave shown a splendid spirit throughout. They have contemplated no resistance to federal author ity, but were and are determined to test the constitutionality of this law before the Supre me Court of the United States. Major Merrill stated in conversation that if.

FURTHER TESTIMONY FOR THE PROSECUTION-WHAT TOOK PLACE AT THE PRESENTATION The eleventh day's proceedings in the trial of Rev. John S. Glendenning before the Jersey City Presbytery commenced at one o'clock yesterday in the Prospect Avenue Presbyterian Church.

George P. Howell, an elder of the church, was recalled. He was asked what reason Glen denning had given him for giving valuable presents to Miss Pomeroy. He declined to answer-first, on the ground that it would be a breach of confidence; and second, on the ground that it would foreshadow the defense. The question being pressed, he finally said that Glendenning had given Miss Pomeroy the watch-guard to enable her the better to take care of the watch he had given her.

Miss Clara Randall testified to Miss Pome-toy's good character, to the death-bed scene, to the lateness of the bour at which, on several occasions, Glendenning left Miss Pomeroy's home. One night she saw him leave at 11.49 p. m. Arother night at 1 io a. m., and on still another occasion, at 2 a.m. When he left, instead of walking on the sidewalk he walked on

Mrs. Lizzie C. Reeves, who was next sworn, testified: On the morning of the 10th of May, Mary received from Mr. Glendenning a note which she showed to me; it read like this as nearly as I can recollect Dear Mary: I wish you would be ready at 7.30. We will go either to New York or Jersey City.

I want you to look your pretiest. Your, [or your own] GLEN. When Miss Pomeroy made her dying statement to Judge Aldridge her mind was clear. I was present in the church at the presentation of a silver service to Mr. Glendenning. Mary had not been let into the secret until the plate had been bought, and she felt offended. I sat with Mary in the church on the night of the presentation. Mr. Giendenning came over to us. He said to Mary: "What's the matter! why don't you brighten up?" and asked her what she thought of the service. She replied that it was nice, but plain. I said aside to her, on the presumption that she was engaged to Giendenning. "It will be so much easier for you to keep it clean, Mary." To which Mr. Glendensing replied, "That is so, Mrs. Reeves." I do not know whether Mr. Glendenning heard me say the word "you," but presumed that he did. Mrs. Francis S. Birmingham testified to Miss Pomeroy's good character, and to the death-bed scehe. Cyrus Tatcher also testified to Miss Pomeroy's coaracter. Several witnesses being absent, the Presbytery went into a discussion of the admissibility of rebutting testimony, and were so engaged when an adjournment was made.-N. I. Times, 27th.

NEW YORK, October 27.—The evidence for the prosecution in the trial of Rev. John S. Glendenning was closed to-day. The last witness was the matron of the Ulinton Place Infants' Asylum, of New York, who corroborated Mrs. Miller's evidence in reference to Glendenning applying for the admission of a woman during the confinement and his second visit there with two gentlemen. The witness readily pointed out and positively identified Glendenning, which was greeted with applause by the large audience present.

A BOY LOCKED UP IN A CHURCH. -About 12 o'clock on Sunday night, several gentlemen who were passing along Broadway, near Pratt street, had their attention attracted to what appeared to be cries of distress proceeding from the Broadway Baptist church. They investi gated further, and finally became convinced that a child had been looked up in the building. The door bells of the dwellings in the neighbor-bood were rung, and the occupants called up, but none of them could tell where the key of the church was kept. The screams of the thoroughly frightened youngster had by that time become really slarming, and it was finally de-termined to force one of the windows. After some effort, a window was opened partly, and through the very small aperture the involun-tary prisoner was drawn. He proved to be a little boy about eight years of age, who had fallen asleep during the service, and, being unnoticed by the sexten, was locked up when the church was closed. After reaching the street, be did not want to make explanations, but started off home as fast as he could run.-Baltimore

A MIXED-UP MARRIED MAN-If He Isn't Married What Does He Want a Die James Marshall was divorced in New York state from his wife Elizabeth, and forbidden to marry again. He did marry again, however, the nuptials taking place in Pennsylvania Subsequently he sued for an unlimited divorce from his last wife, and she answered that he had no right to appeal to the court, because he had evaded its laws by marrying contrary to the order of the court. Judge Westbrook, of New York, writes the opinion, holding simply that the last marriage was no marriage whatever, the parties being residents of New York state. Judge Daniels, however, holds that the marriage was not void, and says that to agree with Judge Westbrook would be to give Mar-shall, who had avoided the laws of New York state, all be wants-to be released from his wife. Court of Appeals. A CREMATION CASE .- The Body of Lady Dilke Reduced to Ashes .- The body of Lady Dilke, who died five weeks ago in London, was burned on the 19th instant at Dresden. The ceremony was performed in the furnace recently invented for burial purposes by Herr Siemens, and the relatives of the deceased lady permitting straugers to be present, a large number of scientific men attended the experiment. When the company had complied with Herr Siemen's request to offer up a mental prayer, the coffin was placed in the chamber of the furnace; six minutes later the coffin burst; five minutes more and the flest began to melt away; ten minutes more and the skeieton was laid bare; another ten minutes and the bones began to crumble. Seventy-five min-utes after the introduction of the coffin into the furnace all that remained of Lady Dilke and the coffin were six pounds of dust, placed in an urn. A FUNERAL INSTEAD OF A WEDDING-Joy Turned into Grief .- A funeral, instead of an expected wedding, occurred last Tuesday in Staunton, Ill. While a young woman, Miss Mollie Clark, was performing her household duties, she dropped a coal-oil lamp on the stove, which exploded, instantly enveloping her in fiames and burning her fatally. She lingered in great agony for about four hours, when death relieved her sufferings. What adds to the sadness of the accident is that the lady was to have been married on Thursday to Mr. Thompson Dupps. Invitations had been issued and all preparations for the wedding completed. The expectant groom had gone to procure the marriage license, and returned just in time to see his affianced breathe har last. The invited guests arrived in time to attend the funeral obequies of the young lady, instead of particlpating in the wedding festivities.

ANOTHER PARSON HEARD FROM-He Lays Aside His Clerical Vestments for More Profitable Temporal Investmen's .- A singular case is reported from Des Moines, in which one Copeland, acting jointly as a Methodist minister and an insurance agent, swindled a man by the name of Angle out of $10,000. He got notes, mort-gages, &c., from Angle, promising to obtain a loan from the Northwestern Insurance company, of Milwaukee. He kept his word, for he did get the loan, but decamped, leaving Angle in the lurch. The affair happened some time ago, but the case has just come to trial on an application by Angle to have the bond and mortgages set aside. This suit was heard in the United States Court, and the jury brought in a verdict against Angle, confirming the rights of the company. rights of the company.

THE TILTON-BEECHER SUIT ON THE CALENDAR.—At last the great scandal case is assuming tangible legal form. The case of Tilton vs.
Beecher has taken a position of numerical dignity upon the calendar, for the month of November, of the Brooklyn city court. It is set down as No. 128, which, in the ordinary allowance for the disposal of the calendar, will bring it before the court about Friday next. Judgo Neilson had not up to yesterday rendered his decision on the motion of Gen. Tracy, counsel for Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, for a bill of particulars "specifying the times and places a which the alleged criminal acts were committed between the defendant and the wife of the plaintiff." The decision will be rendered the latter part of the current week. THE TILTON-BEECHER SUIT ON THE CALEN.
